1. On 15 December TENG Tzu-hui (鄧子恢), vice-chairman of the Central and South China Military and Administrative Commission,* ordered all universities in the Central and South China area to register with the Central and South China military authorities all students who are fluent in English. These students will be sent to Korea as soon as possible as interpreters for the Chinese Communist Army.
2. The Central and South China military authorities are urging female students in colleges and universities to go to Korea with the "Frontline Shouting Squads." The squads will shout pro-Communist slogans and speeches in English through megaphones to American troops in the front lines.
3. On 20 December twenty-six anti-aircraft machine guns and forty-five 30 mm and 25 mm anti-aircraft guns arrived in Canton from the north on the Canton-Hankow Railroad. On the same day they were sent to a warehouse in the Whampoa area. On 21 December representatives from the Kwangtung River Defense Headquarters removed from the warehouse 12 anti-aircraft guns, and representatives from the Kwangtung Military District removed 26 anti-aircraft guns.
